- Presenter and DJ, Ashley James brings Hoxton Radio live to the iconic station (17 – 18 August, 1-6pm)
- Singer-songwriter and YouTube sensation, Daisy Clark to perform live (4.45 - 5.30pm, 18 August)

[15 August 2017] St Pancras International will this week host celebrated Hoxton Radio DJs, Ashley James and Arielle Free, in a two-day live set (17-18 August) as part of its summer festival season offering.

The iconic station will see Hoxton Radio play the latest tracks and welcome special guests to entertain passers-by in a series of live broadcasts from the Arcade. The first guest to join the not-to-be-missed line up, is 19-year-old singer-songwriter, Daisy Clark, who was catapulted to fame at the beginning of the year when six million people around the world watched an online video of her singing in her bedroom.

Daisy will treat station visitors to an exclusive performance, before discussing her upcoming projects and sharing her reaction to knocking her hero, Ed Sheeran, off the top of the iTunes singer-songwriter charts not just once, but twice.

The pop-up returns to the station by popular demand, following its hugely successful first appearance in June which saw talented underground artist, Lewis Floyd Henry, perform under the station's iconic roof.

Ashley James, DJ at Hoxton Radio says: "It was fantastic to see such a positive reaction to our first pop-up at St Pancras International and we're excited to be back, bringing with us another incredible line up of guests to a destination renowned for its musical performances. Daisy Clark is just 19 years old and already making waves as an up-and-coming new talent - we're sure she'll be a big hit."

Continuing the St Pancras festival season in style, the station's retailers will also be getting in on the action with a host of exclusive interviews broadcast live on <http://www.hoxton.fm/>. Hoxton Radio's talented DJs will be quizzing Searcy's Champagne bar on what it is like to run the UK's longest Champagne bar with the iconic station surroundings, before checking out the Green Matcha Tea flavour ice cream which visitors can find at the station's Häagen-Dazs pop-up – a summery treat entirely exclusive to St Pancras International.

Wendy Spinks, Commercial Director, HS1 Ltd (owners of St Pancras International) comments: “We are thrilled to welcome Hoxton Radio back to the station this week. With performances from Daisy Clark, we expect it’ll be an even bigger hit with visitors - we urge everyone to get in on the action and soak up the atmosphere.

“The partnership forms part of our calendar of new and exciting arts and music experiences that we offer, alongside a wealth of stylish and premium retailers, making St Pancras International a destination in its own right.”

The live radio broadcast is the latest musical offering in the station, joining the free-to-play retro style jukebox, and two iconic pianos which have played host to legendary performers including Elton John and John Legend.

Offering convenient shopping and quality bars and restaurants, St Pancras International is a destination in its own right.
